

Covid-19 Financial Recovery Services

The federal government has announced multiple grant and loan funding opportunities to aid health care providers facing increased expenses and lost revenues due to the Covid-19 pandemic. It is anticipated that additional federal funding will become available and state and local legislators, as well as payors, may also take action to provide relief.

Many of these funds however, are “first come, first served”. This means health care organizations need to prepare now to ensure they are at the front of the line to receive their disaster relief funding. COPE Health Solutions has substantial experience helping hospitals, health systems and provider groups draw down federal and state funds through grants, waivers and other programs. Our experts have led organizations through disasters and are experienced in the nuances of securing disaster relief funding.

RELIEF FUNDING ADVISORY

COPE Health Solutions experts can assist providers in understanding current and future federal, state and local legislation and determine eligibility for available funding sources.

COVID-19 DOCUMENTATION ADVISORY

COPE Health Solutions can help providers identify expenses and revenue losses that need to be documented for successful submission. Addressing the impact on organizations requires more than cost accounting, as almost all health care organizations are experiencing revenue losses due to changes in volume, case mix and payor mix. Acting quickly will help organizations apply as soon as applications are released and prepare for potential state and local funding opportunities.

VALIDATION

COPE Health Solutions can validate for Covid-19 relief funding applications, identifying missing critical information, items requiring additional documentation and information that may potentially delay receipt of funds.

APPLICATION ASSISTANCE

If support is needed for the application process, COPE Health Solutions has experience in applying for disaster relief funding and can assist with completing applications.

For information on how COPE Health Solutions can provide rapid and valuable services during this critical time of need, please contact us at info@copehealthsolutions.com or 213-259-0245.

COPE Health Solutions is a national leader in helping health care organizations succeed amid complexity and uncertainty.