

COPE Health Solutions and ACHESC Announce Partnership to Promote Educational and Professional Development Across Southern California

Los Angeles, CA – October 9, 2024 — COPE Health Solutions (CHS), a national tech-enabled services firm powering success for health plans and for providers in risk arrangements across all lines of business, with a separate division providing scale health care recruitment and training pipelines from entry level to professional roles, is pleased to announce a 3-year partnership with American College of Healthcare Executives of Southern California (ACHESC).

The partnership aims to improve healthcare payment and delivery, and to create professional development pathways, for health care leaders and learners across Southern California through healthcare leadership, education and professional development. This will include joint educational events and networking events targeted at localized communities across Southern California.

“Our firm has both a strong national presence and deep roots in California. We were founded in Santa Monica almost 30 years ago and have our headquarters in South Park Downtown Los Angeles. We are excited to be able to partner with ACHESC to create a focus on improving health care and supporting health care professional development in Southern California. We are looking forward to participating in educational and networking events and bringing to bear our value-based payment enablement and health care recruitment, training and professional development expertise,” said Allen Miller, Founder and CEO of COPE Health Solutions.

“ACHE of Southern California is delighted to partner with COPE Health Solutions to offer learning opportunities aimed at providing our members with expanded resources, professional development opportunities, and innovative solutions to address the ever-evolving challenges in health care leadership. As we continue our mission to support healthcare leaders across Southern California and beyond, this partnership with COPE Health Solutions enhances our ability to equip members with cutting-edge insights and tools to transform care delivery,” said Clare Lee, President of ACHE of Southern California. Together, we will empower leaders to make a lasting impact on the communities they serve.”
